

Page Six®

Richard Johnson

richard.johnson@nypost.com

With Paula Froelich
paula.froelich@nypost.com

Chris Wilson
chris.wilson@nypost.com

and Bill Hoffmann
bill.hoffmann@nypost.com

Poker stud

LITERARY agent Greg Dinkin went out to Las Vegas and entered the World Series of Poker to network with his celebrity clients: model Cindy Margolis, “Celebrity Poker Showdown” host Phil Gordon and poker champion Amarillo Slim Preston. But Dinkin, the author of “The Poker MBA,” outlasted 776 players — including former heavyweight champ Lennox Lewis — in the Seven Stud Hi-Lo World Series of Poker tournament and came home $100,000 richer. Also in Vegas was Drew Barrymore, promoting her movie “Lucky You,” which bows Sept. 8.